Young people need perspective

Our mission is to give young people a perspective for their lives through highquality training for digital professions. To do this, we are looking for a variety of volunteers who can contribute their professional experience. Make our mission your own! Someone who volunteers may not get paid, but they get so much more. New encounters. International contacts. Challenges. Impulses that widen your own horizons. And above all, the feeling of being able to contribute to a better future for young people.
